

Found in forests and swamps, this large mammal eats fruit, plants and small animals. Adult males can reach 300 lbs! Even though many live in the Adirondacks, you might never see one. They are shy of people and are active mostly at night.

Connect the dots to find out who they are...

